

Quick Guide: Behavioral Health FAQs for Schools

Supporting Student Mental Health and Access to Services through CenCal Health.

What is CenCal Health?

CenCal Health is a nonprofit, community-based health plan that administers Medi-Cal (California's Medicaid program) benefits for residents in Santa Barbara and San Luis Obispo counties. Everyone who qualifies for Medi-Cal in these counties is automatically enrolled with CenCal Health as their managed care plan.

What behavioral health services are available to youth through CenCal Health?

For services outside of school, CenCal Health covers services for members with mild to moderate mental health needs (non-specialty mental health), including:

- Outpatient therapy (counseling)
- Psychiatric medication evaluations and management
- Applied Behavioral Analysis (ABA) services for members with autism or related conditions (requires referral, but no diagnosis)
- Psychological/Neuropsychological testing, when medically necessary

For students with severe mental health needs (specialty mental health) or those requiring substance use treatment, the County Behavioral Health Department is the appropriate point of contact. Examples of severe mental health needs include significant functional impairment at school, home, or in the community; risk of hospitalization; psychosis or other thought disorders; severe depression or suicidal ideation which has resulted in hospitalization; and complex trauma that impacts daily functioning.

Where should you start if a youth needs mental health support?

If the youth has Medi-Cal through CenCal Health:

 - The Behavioral Health Department call center staff will screen the member to determine the appropriate level of care.
 - If the member meets CenCal Health's level of care, the staff will assist in finding a therapist and/or psychiatrist.
 - If the member meets the county level of care, they will complete a warm transfer to the appropriate county.
- Visit the CenCal Health Provider Directory to find therapists and psychiatrists: <https://providir.cencalhealth.org>
